

CHOLERA SUSPECT WORKED FOUR DAYS ON ALBANY BOAT

Fifty-One Members of Kennebec's Crew Taken to Willard Parker Hospital.

ANOTHER SAILOR HELD.

Taken Off the Purdy Banks, From Mexico, at Perth Amboy.

By order of Health Commissioner Lederle fifty-one men, comprising the crew and firemen of the steamboat Kennebec, which carries passengers and freight between this city and Albany for the Manhattan Line, were taken from the boat, upon her arrival from Albany this morning, to Willard Parker Hospital, at the foot of East Sixteenth street. These men are being held there until bacteriological tests shall determine whether or not any have been infected with germs of Asiatic cholera.

The action of Commissioner Lederle was prompted by the discovery last night that, for four days prior to last Thursday, when Manuel Hernandez, a Spanish seaman, was admitted to Bellevue Hospital suffering from cholera, he had been a fireman on the Kennebec. Immediately this became known to the health authorities inspectors were instructed to look up the Kennebec.

The boat left Albany yesterday evening. She was boarded this morning at the One Hundred and Twenty-ninth street pier by a big corps of inspectors, who remained on board until she reached the Manhattan pier at Houton street. There passengers and freight were permitted to land, but the members of the crew and the firemen were detained. The boat was thoroughly fumigated this afternoon, but will not make the regular trip to Albany tonight.

ANOTHER CASE SUSPECTED AT PERTH AMBOY.

Another case of what is believed to be Asiatic cholera, entirely disconnected with those which came to New York on July 1 on an emigrant ship from Italy, was reported today. The report came from Perth Amboy, N. J., across Staten Island Sound from Tottenville.

The British steamship Purdy Banks, from Tampico, Mex., with a cargo for the American Smelting and Refining Company, reached Perth Amboy this morning. Dr. C. W. Naulty of the United States Marine Hospital Service, stationed at that port, boarded the vessel and found one of the sailors seriously ill with an ailment that had all the symptoms of cholera.

Dr. Naulty lost no time in quarantining the Purdy Banks. Then he telephoned to Quarantine Station and at his request two experts who have been aiding Dr. Doty in caring for the cholera cases on Swinburne and Hoffman islands were sent to his aid to make a bacteriological examination of the subject.

BELLEVUE SUSPECT ISOLATED AND WATCHED.

The Department of Health took charge today of the case of Edgar Herrman, the Bellevue Hospital orderly who was taken ill yesterday with what appears to be a mild case of cholera. Herrman is being held at the hospital as a cholera suspect. He is the orderly who attended Hernandez while that patient was in Bellevue.

There are indications that Herrman has a well defined case of cholera, but the bacteriological examination will not be completed for several hours. Dr. Somerset, the diagnostician of the Board of Health, and Dr. Norris, the pathologist, are in charge of the case. If Herrman, who is secluded in a tent on the hospital grounds, in charge of a volunteer male nurse, is found to be suffering from cholera he will be transferred to Swinburne Island.

Naturally there is considerable uneasiness among the patients, orderlies and nurses of Bellevue. Miss Gross, the nurse who attended Hernandez, has shown no signs of illness, and she professes to believe that Herrman brought on his sickness by worry.

Herrman is reported from Swinburne island as being improved in condition today. No new cases were reported on Hoffman Island, where immigrant aspects are detained.

"We are not certain that Herrman is the cholera," said Dr. George O'Hanlon, General Medical Superintendent of Bellevue and Ailed Hospitals, this morning. "All that we can say is that the case showed symptoms that caused us to order the patient isolated. It is the order of the patient's isolation, and so when he complained of abdominal disorder we immediately took the precautionary steps. Every precaution has been taken and we anticipate no danger at all."

There are six patients in Bellevue. Hernandez was one of the first patients. A seaman attended after going to Bellevue. He has been employed there for fifteen days. He is twenty-one years old and came from Germany, seven years ago. He said he is strong and healthy.

CONSTANTLY UNDER CARE OF SAME ORDERLY.

When Hernandez went to the hospital last Thursday his case was diagnosed as one of typhoid fever and he was placed in a ward on the fifth floor of the new building, in a special room. After that he was constantly under the personal care and attention of the nurse, Miss Gross, and the orderly, Edgar Herrman.

BEATTIE PLANNED TO ELOPE BEFORE MURDER, SAYS GIRL

Beulah Binford, Under "Third Degree," Gives Motive for Killing of Woman.

RICHMOND, Va., July 25.—Her nerve broken by a grilling third degree examination, Beulah Binford, the seventeen-year-old "other woman" in the Beattie murder case, today made a long statement to Detective L. L. Scherer, which, the police declare, supplies a motive for the killing of Mrs. Henry Clay Beattie Jr.

The girl's story, the police say, shows that within the last few weeks Henry Clay Beattie Jr. planned to run away with Beulah Binford, and that he only abandoned his plans because he feared his father would disinherit him if he deserted his wife.

They say that the violent quarrel Beattie had with his wife a few days before her death was over his renewed relations with the Binford woman. Their theory now is that he determined to be rid of his wife that he might live with the "other woman."

In her own words, this is the pitiful story of the girl behind Virginia's most sensational murder:

"I never knew any better. When I was a child my mother was too busy to care for me or to tell me what a girl should know. Then when I tried to live right somebody would discover who and what I was and I was pushed down hill again. I was ready to die for Harry Beattie. But I was thinking of Harry's old father and his baby when I said I would do that. You see Harry had them and a future before him while there is nothing in sight for me."

In his cell in the Richmond Jail Henry Beattie maintained his placid attitude, incessantly smoked his cigarettes and strummed on his guitar. His cousin, Paul Beattie, who admits he purchased the gun with which the slaying was done, is in a state of nervous collapse in a cell a few feet away. Both men will be put through the "third degree" tonight, and the police hope then to establish the connection between them and a third man in the case, who, they think, was paid to commit the actual crime.

DEAN DENIES LETTER TO BEULAH BINFORD.

Denying that he had ever heard of Beulah Binford, that he had ever written a letter to anyone in Virginia or knew any details of the murder of Mrs. Louise Owens Beattie, whose husband is a prisoner charged with having killed her, Charles Dean, whose name was mentioned in despatches from Richmond, Va., today said he was as much puzzled as anyone else.

Dean was seen this afternoon at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Richard Hall, No. 60 West Seventy-fifth street, where he receives his mail. When told that the Binford girl, now a prisoner in the Henrico county jail, had made a private statement to the detectives in charge of the case after receiving a letter from him, Dean declared that he was as much puzzled as anyone else to know how he could be mentioned in the case.

"I do not know the girl, and never knew any one in Virginia," he declared. "I never sent a letter to any one there and how they could hold my name in Richmond is a puzzle to me."

The man admitted that he is a Southerner, but has been living in this city for some time. He also refused to tell his profession or give the address, where he lives or where his aunt, who is out of the city, is stopping.

According to the Richmond despatches a State's witness soon after Henry Clay Beattie Jr. was made a prisoner and charged with the murder of his young wife, made a lengthy statement to the Henrico county jail, had made a private statement to the detectives in charge of the case after receiving a letter from him.

When seen after making this statement the young woman refused to say what it was about or why she should have made it after receiving the letter.

SHOOTING IN TRAIN WHEN HE DOESN'T GET SEAT QUICKLY

Hans Jacob Rowe, thirty years old, a baker of No. 1375 Second avenue, created a panic in the smoking car of the Boston Limited at the Grand Central Station today when he fired a shot from a .22 caliber revolver at Walter Victory, a salesman, who lives in Bridgeport, Conn.

Rowe had purchased a ticket for New London and when he boarded the smoking car he came to a seat in which Victory was sitting with a bag at his side. He ordered Victory to remove the bag and "he damned quick about it," Victory took his time and Rowe let fly his fat. Victory got up and walked down the car. Rowe went down and then looked up again. The two men glared at each other. Victory freed himself Rowe drew the revolver and fired. The bullet missed the salesman and wounded a nearby window. Before Rowe could fire again a half a dozen men had jumped on him.

By the time Patrolman Kratz got to the car Rowe was being hammered and punched by every one who could get crack at him. Kratz took him to the Yorkville police court, where he was arraigned on charges of carrying concealed weapons and intoxication. Victory refused to abandon his journey to Bridgeport to appear against Rowe. The baker was held for a further examination.

muzzle of a considerable piece of blue hardware. It sized up the calibre of a cannon to his startled eyes. "Throw me your keys," cried the man with the gun, and Rosenbaum tossed over his keys. But as he did so he slumped back behind the counter and flattened himself on the floor. Then, he relates, the bombardment commenced. He could hear the bullets ripping through the woodwork and caroming about his head. Next the bombardier fired.

POLICE BELIEVE HOLDUP MAN FIRED BLANK CARTRIDGES. The streets were fairly well filled with people and Baptiste Marchesi and a group of his friends had heard the shooting. When the young man with the gun ran out and dodged through the passers-by on the pavement he headed toward Cornelia street. Marchesi and his friends pursued and they were gaining on the young gunman when he turned and let go some more flame from his revolver. The police are convinced that it was only flame and not lead that emerged from the baffled robber's pistol.

The chase suddenly ended when the young man darted into the hallway of No. 27 Cornelia street. He fired two shots in this hallway, but there are no bullet holes to tell of lead slugs and no one was hit. There was a halt in the chase that permitted the man to escape and get a ten minute lead before the arrival of any police.

When the detectives finally did take up the pursuit there was nothing to work on but hysterical narratives and cross-identifications. Rosenbaum is sure that he could pick out his assailant, but he is incapable of drawing any very accurate picture of the young gunman. The most singular feature of this blank cartridge bombardment and its connection with a red taxicab is that the red taxi was in the neighborhood for fully two hours and its three passengers spent that time drinking and carousing in neighborhood saloons. This is not the usual preliminary to a daring robbery, where the motive is actual plunder.

So keen is Inspector Hughes to run down the desperadoes engaged in this sensational campaign of crime that he has prevailed upon Commissioner Waldo to bring out of retirement Lieut. William Duggan, of the Hamburg avenue station, Brooklyn, and former Detective Valerian O'Farrell. Both have been on the blacklist since they were charged with backing up Magistrate Corrigan in his assertions that the city was suffering from an actual crime wave.

Clayton Peabody, who has no peer on the force as an information getter, may be added to this trio, though his crime was even greater in connection with the same offense against the Mayor. Peabody is now rusticated at Whitehouse.

WITNESSES OF KILLING FURNISH POLICE WITH CLUE. From those who were in and about the Jacoby jewelry store at the time of the fatal murder Saturday evening the detectives were able to get a better description of the first red taxicab trio today. One of them, the man who killed Stern, is now described as short and stocky, and his description is not unlike the description of a notorious rival gangster, Sam Slain.

"We have really made some progress during the past twelve hours," said Inspector Hughes today. "Some important clues have been developed. Some of them are of considerable value. I had a bunch of chauffeurs before me who have licenses with combinations of

NEW YORKER'S BABY BOY FOUND DEAD IN SWAMP.

Little Harry Levine Strayed From Family Summer Home in Connecticut.

HANOVER, Conn., July 25.—Little Harry Levine, four and one-half years old, son of Anselm Levine of New York City, was found dead today in a blackberry swamp a little over a mile from the Levine summer home here. The Levine family came here on July 12 for their vacation. Soon afterwards the little boy disappeared and subsequent search failed to locate him.

ANOTHER STEEL DIVIDEND.

United States Corporation Common Pays 5 Per Cent. Rate. The directors of the United States Steel Corporation today declared the regular quarterly dividend of 14 per cent on the preferred stock and 14 per cent on the common stock. The quarterly dividend of $2.00 per share, which was paid on June 30, 1911.

FRENCHMEN IN SKY FLY NECK AND NECK FOR AVIATION PRIZE

Vedrine and Beaumont Thrill Thousands With Sensational Race Over Scotland.

BRISTOL, England, July 25.—The flying race around Great Britain for a prize of $20,000 offered by the London Daily Mail developed today into a neck and neck contest between Vedrine and Beaumont, with only G. Hamel and Valentine keeping anywhere near the leaders. Today's schedule called for a flight from Edinburgh to this city by way of Stirling, Glasgow and Manchester, a total distance of 383 miles.

C. T. Weyman, the only American competitor, who has had hard luck from the start, had further trouble with his engine today, and abandoned the contest.

Vedrine and Beaumont made the circuit of Scotland, starting from Edinburgh, stopping at Stirling and Glasgow and proceeding to Carlisle during the forenoon. They left the Scottish capital at 1 o'clock, being delayed later at Stirling by heavy rain.

In the early flying Beaumont made up some time lost on Saturday and Monday, but Vedrine overcame this advantage in the flight from Glasgow to Carlisle, covering that leg of eighty-six miles in 1 hour and 59 minutes against Beaumont's time of 2 hours and 13 minutes.

Reynolds, who arrived at Harrogate this morning, smashed his machine in attempting to get away again. Astley also reached Harrogate this morning. Weyman tried to renew the race at Leeds but could not make his engine work properly and withdrew.

Beaumont left Carlisle at 12:24 and reached Manchester, 100 miles distant, at 4:55 o'clock this morning. Vedrine, who followed at 12:45, arrived at Manchester at 5:18 o'clock.

CALLED BACK TO OPEN SAFE.

William Kurzman, the Fifth avenue milliner, called on the North German Lloyd liner Kronprinzessin Cecilie today after having been in New York only a few days. His annual trip abroad was interrupted by a message from his establishment here that the combination of the safe, had been lost, as well as the outer key by which the combination was reached. Mr. Kurzman alone had the extra key and the combination.

Rather than trust them to the mails he came back himself to open the strong box.

Cruiser Chester at Hayti. CAPE HAYTIEN, Hayti, July 25.—The United States scout cruiser Chester arrived here today, and is lying in the harbor to protect American interests. Gen. Leconte, who has been proclaimed Commander-in-Chief by one wing of the revolution, guarantees to maintain order here. The situation, however, remains tense.

DISFIGURING ECZEMA CURED IN 2 WEEKS

Blisters Broke and Formed Scabs. Nose Covered with Them. Very Itchy. Used Cuticura Remedies. Now Hasn't a Single Mark.

"My nephew first showed signs of eczema on the middle finger, and it came out like a blister. His mother thought he had gotten a burn in some way unknown to her, and she treated it as such. He must have rubbed his face with that hand, as it then broke out on his nose in the same way. When the blisters broke, they shriveled up and formed scabs. His nose was covered with scabs, and it was very itchy. He was badly disgusted with unsightly scabs. At first, his nose was sore, and it gradually became worse so his mother took him to the doctor. He gave her some preparation, and told her to rub the scabs off every day, and anoint the affected part with the medicine he gave her."

"The man must have been insane, as that was extreme torture to the child who was only two years old. The time that it was two years ago. Well, we decided that that treatment would have to end. I suggested Cuticura Ointment and they bought it and used it on every day for two weeks. He had the eczema for four weeks altogether, but was getting gradually worse until they used the Cuticura Remedies, and he was cured in two weeks. He most certainly would have been scarred with the other treatment, but now he hasn't a single mark. Cuticura Remedies cured him in two weeks, and now we always keep them in the house." (Signed) Miss Ida Slavin, 283 South Fifth St., Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 4, 1911.

For more than a generation the Cuticura Remedies have afforded the most economical treatment for affections of the skin and scalp of infants, children and adults. A case of Cuticura Soap (25c) and a box of Cuticura Ointment (50c) are often sufficient. Although sold throughout the world a liberal sample of each, with 32-p. book on the skin, will be sent free of charge to the Potter Drug Chem. Corp., Dept. 13A Boston.

FIFTH AVENUE RUNAWAY.

Fifth avenue, from Thirty-fifth to Thirty-sixth street, was in an uproar this afternoon, when a horse attached to a delivery wagon bolted on the avenue. The horse had been frightened by the honk of a passing automobile, and it dashed up the hill, dragging the wagon after it for a distance of a block. Automobiles and carriages turned rapidly into the side streets to give the frightened animal, and Traffic Police- man Byrne, his pursuer, a wide berth. At Thirty-sixth street the horse turned off the avenue and swung the wagon around so sharply that it overturned. Freed from its burden, the horse continued along Thirty-sixth street for nearly a block, when it was overhauled. The horse was attached to a wagon belonging to the Jackson Express Company of No. 110 East Forty-first street and its driver was making deliveries nearby.
